

My Dream ... My Vision

A while ago I had a dream, a dream that was the most real experience of my life! In my dream I was shown and told the most fantastic things, however what made it more real than anything else in my life were the feelings I felt in my dream. Although I cannot pass on these feelings directly, they can be measured by what they've driven me to manifest since then in pursuit of finding them once more, and hopefully also in the inspiration they can ignite within yourself to pursue a love that is greater than previously imagined. In the meantime, I'd like to share my dream with you.

It was 1998 and I was a complete loner, but not lonely since I had built walls around me to protect me that were thicker than any concrete bunker's. They enabled me to be happy in a world of pain. Like it says so well in the movie "L.A. Story", "I was deeply unhappy but I didn't know it because I was so happy all the time." However, I'd made a promise to myself as a child to live life to the fullest and like nobody ever before and so after another long distance relationship ended because of my walls I intuitively knew that it was time to change something again in my life. This time instead of traveling overseas or changing work it was all about letting in some deeper emotions.

It was then that I experienced loneliness for the first time and it not only hurt, it was torture. The pain seemed unbearable. It was during this period of torture that I realized deep down how lonely I really was and so I asked myself a question, "Would I die a lonely man?" Within a week or two I met a couple who, for the first time ever, were in a relationship that I respected. Not only that, but when I met them I experienced what could best be described as some kind of telepathic download. By download, I mean that within a couple of minutes we each intuitively knew everything about each other and yet until then I'd always been a loner and a stranger, keeping my distance from everyone, because if nobody knew me then they couldn't hurt me. A couple of weeks later my new friends invited me over to Australia to go to my first dance party. I was reluctant at first, but being a loner I'd always trusted my intuition and it was telling me strongly to go and that over there I would find the answer to my question.

We arrived at the dance party along with about 15,000 others. It was a strange experience to say the least, however the music was playing and this seemed to calm my nerves. When I was introduced to others and they were told it was my first dance party they all seemed to have this certain look on their face which I couldn't quite piece together. As we went into the first dance hall I felt claustrophobic and awkward with so many people around me. I wasn't comfortable at all. However, the music calmed my nerves and so I focused on listening to the music rather than the people around me. Soon the music began to take over and fill my consciousness, and as it did a funny thing began to happen. It was as if layer after layer of fog began to pull back and for the first time in my life I felt as if I could see what I could best describe as "the real world".

With this realization came the further realization that I had been blind all my life, despite having nothing physically wrong with my eyes! I also began to feel very strange, but these feelings were not painful but euphoric, indeed ecstatic! I felt release, I felt free with these new feelings growing inside of me. As I took myself out of the music I looked around and saw all around me how beautiful and friendly all the people were. I was so shy but amazed as people began smiling at me at first and then later came up to talk to and care for me. It felt like the first experience since my earliest childhood memories with my grandparents that anyone had shown me any attention or affection.

I was spell bound and was shown through three other different massive dance halls, each containing a different energy that I could feel. All my life I had shut myself off from the outside world and yet now it seemed as if I was conscious of so much more. I could feel what was happening all around me. Finally we came to the fourth and last hall and it had in it stadium style seats, as if ready for a show. I felt I was totally aware of what was going on around me and realized that I was telepathically connected to those around me, as if they could hear every thought and feeling I was creating. As I created a new thought/emotion then so changed what happened around me and who was around me, and all perfectly in tune with the lights and the music.

As I've said before, I'd always thought that I'd be alone for the whole of my life. I wasn't worthy enough to have asked for anything before in my life. Besides, I thought I was fine being a loner and just looking after everyone else because I could look after myself just fine. However, just for a moment the music and my confidence had built up to a level that had reached into my deepest emotions. Right then I was in a space that opened up emotions I'd never felt before as I broke further through the armor I'd created to shut myself off from all the pain I felt from the world. It was then that I dared to ask my question again. It was such a simple little question ... "Would I always be alone?"

As I asked this question I saw all these people walking past me and all around me. As my thoughts changed then so did the people walking past me. They were all magical people in their own right, each with something so special to offer. I felt privileged to be amongst them and so wanted to help them in any way I could.

However, as much as I wanted to help them, I had to be completely honest to myself because I found that, for the first time, I really wanted to ask for something for myself. It was then that I asked the question, "Would I ever find a partner who I'd fall in love with?" Ooh, all these thoughts and feelings were coming to me. I wanted to play. I was like a kid in a candy store. It was crazy, I only had to create a thought about a person and my thought manifested in front of me. Yes, every feeling and fantasy manifesting in front of me almost instantly! Complete freedom and truth of expression, free of all our external conditioning. I felt like I was the luckiest person alive. Imagine creating the sexiest thought and next moment it was there in front of you and yours for the taking! That was the situation I was in. Unbelievable and yet so real!

I flirted for a while, being so shy and yet so playful and naughty, but soon realized that somehow I couldn't find what I was really looking for. The thought then swept through me that yes, I was always destined to be alone. If I couldn't find anything I desired here and now then I never would. With this thought I felt emotion that just about collapsed me. How could I be offered so much just a moment before and still not be content? After all the emotion I'd just experienced and yet to feel so empty I was about to resign the rest of my life to being a complete loner. All the experiences I'd just had were total reinforcement of this truth.

A deep emotion of fear washed through me. This fear was immense and penetrated right through me. I felt like I'd reached out further emotionally than I ever had before, as if I'd taken a leap of faith over an infinite chasm, but was now falling down that chasm ... falling so fast that everything was closing in around me ... I felt like I was being sucked into a black hole with all light and hope fading fast. Even hope was now deserting me. As it did the fear made me cold, it was consuming me and it was draining life from me. With such intense emotion my life began to flash before my eyes and as it did what I called my question of destiny, my life purpose to-date, intuitively came into my consciousness. As it did, such intense emotion had me working purely intuitively and I asked a question I'd never asked before, "Would I ever find the perfect relationship, would I ever experience unconditional love?"

As soon as I asked this question the world around me started to change and I felt energy being pumped back into me as if it were oxygen filling my blood. I then felt as if I left my body and was transported galaxies away to another universe, where there were only stars. They were not stars like our sun, but balls of pure colored energy that were alive. Then began the most amazing music, music that made me laugh and music that made me cry, no... made me weep. It felt like I was weeping from a deeper level than just physically, that these emotions came from a place that exposed more of me than I'd ever realized. It was as if there was more to me than just the physical but I couldn't explain it ... it was a feeling, an experience that created a new reality. As much as I tried my best to control it, my crying became uncontrollable and I surrendered. Up until this time I couldn't remember a time in my life when I'd ever cried. All my life I'd been strictly trained to be strong and never cry, crying displayed weakness.

Soon began a show more wonderful than I could ever have imagined. I had always loved the Walt Disney cartoons as a child, which played on television on Sunday afternoons. Sunday afternoon was indeed my favorite time of the week. Now it felt like I was in the cartoon itself. These cartoon characters weren't drawn like on television though, they were three dimensional and as real as could be. They were as real to me then as my, and everyone else's, everyday physical reality that we experience during our lives.

The cartoon characters danced and swirled, transformed and performed. At first I was pretty much standing back, but they were so much fun and I was so filled with emotion that I felt like joining in, all be it from a distance because my loner instinct kicked in. I mimicked them and played tricks on them, as they did me. I realized that they could understand my thoughts and feelings somehow telepathically. I couldn't hide anything from them.

It was so cool because I soon realized that I was feeling emotions that I'd never felt before. I imagined myself as one of the cartoon characters because I wanted to be like them. Our telepathic communications translated directly into music and light. In other words, a changing thought or emotion produced a change in the music and a change in not only the cartoon character's behavior, but in their shape as well. Everything was translated and understood at a far greater level of understanding this way than words could ever be. It showed me the true power of creation in every single one of my thoughts and emotions.

As for the music, this music was different in so many ways. I have been deaf in one ear ever since I can remember and so had never heard music in stereo before, however I realized that I wasn't so much hearing the music as much as feeling it. I felt like energy and so did the music. I felt like I was feeling the music not through my ears but through my entire body! In such a state I could feel the detail of the "symphonics", which I intuitively knew held deeper messages; digital messages that were composed in megabits, layer upon layer. The technology involved made all of mankind's technology seem like it was from the stone age.

The music continued to change its beat and rhythm, as it began telling me a story in the language of music and light (the cartoon characters). The music moved from tribal to trance to all sorts and it was funny how it seemed I could understand it intuitively; though because so much of it was from outside my current belief systems I progressively learnt more as my belief systems changed in the years that were to come. Also, some of the music I heard was to be released only in the years to come. I had heard music that hadn't even supposedly been made at the time!? This was because, I was to learn, so many of the messages were time locked and I would only understand them when I was ready to. However, at the time I remembered one "song" in particular because I recognized it clearly from my childhood. For some reason when I went to boarding school and attended chapel I'd always liked one psalm/song the most and it was being played to me now – "Lord of the Dance".

I felt like I was in Walt Disney's movie "Fantasia". My biggest dream I thought had come true and I didn't want to leave. This place was perfection and it held no hurt. I could make friends here because these friends were real. They wanted to understand me and be my friends, not try to beat me up.

In amongst the fun and characters came a time when they took the shape of pyramids that performed a dance to the most extraordinary music. I could feel the pyramids held unlimited energy within them and at will they seemed to go from clarity and peacefulness to color and creation, but multi-dimensionally. They were so individual and yet could combine as One, as if by will as if by ... aaagh ... I don't know!?! Once again, there are no words that can truly describe what I saw and felt and I can't remember every detail because so much was told emotionally. Only by remembering certain feelings can I remember certain information, not the other way around.

However, I somehow retrained my mind to search deeper into the emotions, music and the images of light within the pyramids and as I did they became as One. Wow, instead of just standing back there was now something more going on. I felt a shift of energy in some way within me. Somehow I felt as if the pyramid had moved within me and yet I could see it outside of me; yet not in my mind, but in my "being". Anyway, I don't know whether I created it from a deeper inner self that I hadn't been aware of previously or it was given to me, but I realized that with it I could "decode" the music and the light to a deeper dimension. It was like I had been given or discovered a pass key to another universe.

The pyramid was no simple key though. It was as if I could only lock on to it when I let a certain feeling wash through me, and when I did my being became able to "ascend" to this level of amazing peace and clarity. Now I could "see" the music and light pass into this key, but then I still had to spin and twirl this pyramid around to break further codes, and did so as my mind/being began to work at a speed I hadn't imagined before ... and then some. Both music and light flowed into the pyramid and out from it I was able to make an incredible number of shapes, colors, feelings and "packaged bits". As I did, I intuitively realized I was in a kind of training program of incredible intelligence. No not intelligence, because I had to work primarily from my heart, not my head, though it was a combination of the two. I had to decode emotionally and then further into thought.

At sometime I was shown back over my past as if I was traveling in time, but this time I couldn't control my emotions and lock them away as I'd always done before. I felt like I collapsed and just cried and cried for so long. I wept for so long that it was as if I was letting out and releasing a lifetime's pain and suffering. It was like so many of the toxins that were slowly but surely poisoning me, and would ultimately create my death, were being bled out from me by this letting go.

After this I returned to my cartoon friends whom I'd met before and I wanted to share with them all that I'd experienced, but for some reason they were scared. I wanted to be friends but there was something different. How could I go so fast from the pyramids and understanding so much to understanding so little? They didn't want to believe my story that I was explaining to them as rationally as I could. I tried and I tried and I tried! I felt like giving up and asked them what they wanted me to do. I didn't want to confuse them, I just wanted to share my experience with them so I could make them happy. I sat down and put my hands over my eyes. It was then that feelings started flowing through me. Intuitively, I started playing music to them and they responded. Wow, when I played music they were happy. So I started to play the music and create all these visions from the feelings I was feeling. As I did I realized that I was beginning to talk to them in a whole new language of expression.

As my confidence grew I conjured up warmer and warmer feelings, along with greater and greater visions and as I did the energy all around me was being transformed magically into music and light. I was becoming not only the DJ, but the magician as well! All these magnificent feelings were washing through me and as they did they seemed to be simultaneously and magically manifesting all around me. As my confidence grew, so did the feelings of love within me and the majesty of what was all around me. There were stars turning into balls of energy, lights of every kind, music, waves, clouds, lightning ... and then there were planets and galaxies appearing. It even seemed as if the illusion of time itself was morphing along with all the other things.

I intuitively began to feel like I was Mickey Mouse in the Sorcerer's Apprentice as all the visions around me resembled those he was conducting in Fantasia on top of his platform. It was then that I looked at my arms and then down at what I was wearing to find that I was wearing not only a red robe, but I was intuitively told that it was the very sorcerer's robe that Mickey Mouse was wearing in the movie "Fantasia". I had become Mickey Mouse, the Sorcerer's Apprentice and all around me was "Fantasia"! I giggled at myself and yet for some reason before I'd never liked the way girls used to giggle. But now I found it so enjoyable because I felt like I was giggling somehow with ... Minnie Mouse.

It was then that I realized that I was starting to feel another energy and it was the most wonderful energy I could ever imagine... beyond my previous imagination. Ooohhhh!!! As my feelings drifted towards this new energy I began to focus on it more and more and as I did the other animated characters, shapes and forms faded away and in the music a new light began to appear. As I focused on the emotion held in the music further I saw two balls of energy swirling around each other in the most incredible dance, sparking off each other whenever they touched. It was the most romantic and sensuous dance, with emotion I could feel within me to a level I still cannot possibly express. It was a love beyond love, an energy that was timeless and endless, it was total peace and yet complete intensity. But how did I know this emotion was love when I'd never allowed myself to feel much emotion before? I just did!

This dance continued. It sped up and I could "feel" laughter and fun. They were joking and playing with such pure and innocent love, just as children do. It was as if they were pulling faces and tickling each other, zipping and zapping this way and that, dancing and playing at the same time. Each time when I thought that the emotion couldn't drive any deeper, it did. Then, as they danced, they came across other "stars" of energy. However for some reason these stars weren't dancing as energetically or shining as brightly. With childish naughtiness and innocence, with the joy and love these original two energies had within them, they danced all around these new stars, making them smile and laugh at first, before touching them and sparking them into full life. The other stars would then join them in their amazing dance. Although it took energy to spark the others, the original two energies seemed to have limitless energy. If ever one did feel a little drained then all the other had to do was dance around the other and they would both be back to full charge and continue the dance together. They came across endless stars and gave them all endless energy and love so that they too could shine so brightly, dance so wonderfully and feel the same love.

Then intuitively a realization came to me. These energies were souls, and what's more, that eyes are the window to the soul. What's more again, one of the original dancing energies/stars/souls was me and it was exactly the same color as my eyes. The other soul was my Twin Soul, the other half of me, the one who will complete me, and the color of her energy that I could see was the color of her eyes. But how could this be? It was only then that my core belief that I'd be alone for the rest of my life began to finally break down. As it did the dance transformed once again.

The sensation in the music and dance now became incredibly sensual and sexual as tribal and trance mixed together. The tingles and sparkles we generated off each other took on a whole new feeling as we became completely focused upon each other. The beauty within her became what could best be described as truly fluorescent as the light within her glowed brighter than ever before. I couldn't imagine how such a love could grow but it still was. Each sensation we felt was the most beautiful and wonderful feeling I'd ever imagined and together we created a symphony of light and love that was truly divine. While naturally understanding the softness and vulnerability within each other, the power of our love made us feel invincible ... kind of like gods! There was absolute trust and understanding in ourselves and with each other so we could let go and express all that we had while unveiling whatever else our imaginations could discover.

Ooohhhh .... once we felt these feelings then they overcame us and yet we were in greater command than ever before. So much expression and wisdom were contained within these feelings and I awakened to the fact that we were feeling what could best be described as some form of higher spiritual mating call. This call was truly irresistible and held greater power than any law of physics possibly could. Indeed, it seemed like the meaning of life itself and all else was simply part of the foreplay. The untamable orgasmic ecstasy gave us almost unbearable sensational sexual tingles through every part of our energy.

As our dance and the tingles and sparkles grew in their sexual and sensual power we noticed that all those around us were being drawn in and called to it. We felt like teenage virgins who were about to make love for the first time and there was nothing else in our consciousness except the anticipation of making love. However, this was no form of love that was confined to the physical world limitations. It was an expression of love too beautiful to be hidden away. Instead, it held the respect of the truly spiritual ones, who saw it for what it was ... an act of the heavens. In that moment nothing else in the universe existed and yet at the very same moment we felt total connection!

What happened next and how long after I can't truly remember except that I vividly remember the color of her energy all around me and then suddenly I was in some form of light travel. When I stopped she had gone and there was nothing but emptiness. A feeling of loneliness swept over me that cut me to pieces. My energy was destroyed and I couldn't move. I wanted to yell out for her, but I didn't even have the energy to do that. My heart felt like it had been ripped to pieces. As soon as I could gather the energy to move I started searching for her. I started wandering alone and then when my energy built a little I began asking every soul/energy I came across if they'd seen her. It wasn't in words though, it was all telepathic. All communication at this level was telepathic. There was no reply, or just an equivalent to a shrug of the shoulders. A story then washed over me that somehow we'd been parted so long ago and had been searching for each other ever since throughout time and space. We'd been coming into lifetime after lifetime in a desperate search, trying to find each other. Nothing else mattered except finding each other. There was no other point to life. In the silence and loneliness I remembered what music was being played at the time we departed and so intuitively understood that was the key; find that music again and I would find her. The music, her eyes, the feeling of love that she made me feel like and the feeling of love she felt like were all part of "the glass slipper" that Cinderella had left at the ball.

My heart ached so badly and yet the stars I came across couldn't understand the love that I was trying to express. My energy was so low that I couldn't make them shine like I wanted to in order to show them what I meant. No matter how hard I tried they could only understand as much as their own energy level and the energy level I was currently able to show them. So I wandered alone for a long time trying everything possible to somehow regain some energy.

Then in through my wanderings I came across a place where there was music. I followed it, but it wasn't the rhythm I was looking for. Nonetheless it was music. As my journey continued, I knew that despite all the time and hardship, I could never give up hope; that was the one thing never to do. Then I heard it again. In the background of the music I could hear it, very faintly indeed amongst the sophistication of the other music's emotion and rhythm. I could hear our music; the music that we'd felt together so long ago. It was so very faint but I knew it was there. As the music grew stronger then so did I. Soon I was able to dance again, and when I did, I lifted my energy enough to be able to start calling for her again. As it did I gained the comfort that she was searching for me just as strongly. When I danced my energy was so strong and I was sending out my love across the universe again calling for her. All the other souls heard the music, felt the love and joined in the search. They all knew that this love was something special and they wanted to be a part of it.

Every soul who heard the music joined in and in turn found greater love than they'd ever imagined before. Then, as suddenly as she'd disappeared, she was there dancing in front of me again. If I'd thought the emotion of love I'd felt with her before was strong, then it was nothing compared to the love after the pain of such a long separation. It was true storybook love, complete unconditional love. We'd both met so many amazing souls along the journey too, and this time they were all dancing wildly all around us. We were all feeding off each other's energy, each other's unconditional love for ourselves and each other. This unconditional love had powers far beyond any physical limitations, indeed this was evolution itself! It was the party of parties for as far as could be seen across the universe. There were lights, explosions, dancing and games, all of which were the most fantastic ever experienced. It was as if the universe had come together to celebrate.

I didn't understand any of what it meant at the time except that I knew I was on a quest. Nothing, but nothing, was important except that I knew I had to search the Earth to find Her again. There was no way I could bear even a 1% risk of not finding her. I just felt it was going to be a tough journey that would push me beyond what most would endure, but that would only make my resolve stronger. In my journey I had to use every and any trick I could ever imagine to find her again. I intuitively knew that I had to find answers that nobody else had before. I had my inspiration and so now came the real test of my ability to discipline my mind, use my imagination and develop a strategy.

Firstly, there was no way I could physically search the world to find her and so I had to invent a way, a distribution channel, to broadcast my love to every single person in every corner of the Earth so that it would be sure to find her. Secondly, as I was nothing but a worthless loner, then if I was to find my princess/my angel then I had better get about proving that I was some kind of knight in shining armor because I'd read somewhere that they like that stuff. In business talk, you could say I needed to find some leverage. I'd also been sharp enough to notice a very nasty trend in fairytale stories; the real princesses had an occupational habit of hiding away in the tallest towers. I went into my head and invented another game. I was going to come up with one of the ... no, I was going to come up with the greatest fairytale love story ever, so that when we found each other again it would be easy for her to recognize me and know how strong my love for her was.

This love story was not only going to go beyond our world, but also those of the movies as well. Where did I start, what could I do? Then it dawned upon me. I'd take love to the world to show her the power of the love I felt for her and would demonstrate what unconditional love really meant. Our love would be so strong that there was no way we couldn't find each other, and in the process would also solve all the world's problems. The whole world would then share the same love as we did. This would surely be the greatest of all fairytale love stories.

The crazy dreamer came out within me and so this story was going to have more "fencing, fighting, torture, revenge, giants, monsters, chases, escapes, true love and miracles" than the movie "The Princess Bride". As the song goes, "My love is like a storybook story, but it's as real as the feelings I feel". Little did I know then how many times I would fall into the "pit of despair", how long it would take to traverse the "fire swamp" or how high "the cliffs of insanity" would be along my journey. I had been given something so beautiful and powerful that it can equally destroy you as set you free. However, it's truly magical how much courage storybook love gives you. I knew in my heart that there was no such thing as failure because, as a marketer by profession, failure was just a reflection of not desiring or believing in something enough.

Have you ever had a dream that you were so sure was real? What if you were unable to wake from that dream? How would you know the difference between the dream world and the real world? My dream was the most real experience of my life! Why? Because I felt it! That's why much later I was to realize that my dream was what is called a spiritual experience, what I could describe as my visit to "The Oracle" in the movie "The Matrix". I was told all I needed to know at the time to learn the answers to the questions that burned inside me. Another way of describing it might be that my vision was my exposure to a kind of high energy cosmic storm in the movie "The Fantastic Four" that unveiled the greater secrets to life on earth and awoke powers within me that were previously beyond my dreams.

From the moment of my dream, dancing became my preferred form of meditation. If ever I needed to feel free, all I had to do was dance. As for showing you the love that I felt in my dream and that lives inside me every moment of every day, here is my dream, my vision: To take love to the world, and in doing so solve every single one of the world's problems and have everybody playing the game by consciously creating the greatest fairytale love stories imaginable! In a consciously designed world, universe, reality this is the greatest purpose of life imaginable. Thank you all for being a part of my fairytale love story, and it's a divine pleasure to be part of yours as well!

Jiminy Cricket (Cliff Edwards) – When You Wish Upon a Star

When you wish upon a star
Makes no difference who you are Anything your heart desires
Will come to you
If your heart is in your dream
No request is too extreme
When you wish upon a star
As dreamers do
Fate is kind
She brings to those who love
The sweet fulfillment of Their secret longing
Like a bolt out of the blue
Fate steps in and sees you through
When you wish upon a star
Your dreams come true

Willy DeVille/Mark Knopfler - Storybook Love

Come my love I'll tell you a tale
Of a boy and girl and their love story
And how he loved her oh so much
And all the charms she did possess
Now this did happen once upon a time
When things were not so complex
How he worshipped the ground she walked
And when he looked in her eyes he became obsessed
My love is like a storybook story
But it's as real as the feelings I feel
My love is like a storybook story
But it's as real as the feelings I feel
It's as real as the feelings I feel
This love was stronger than the powers so dark
A prince could have within his keeping
His spells to weave and steal a heart
Within her breast but only sleeping
My love is like a storybook story
But it's as real as the feelings I feel
My love is like a storybook story
But it's as real as the feelings I feel
It's as real as the feelings I feel
Now he said, don't you know I love you oh so much
And lay my heart at the foot of your dress?
She said, don't you know that these storybook loves
Always have a happy ending?
Then he swooped her up just like in the books
And on his stallion they rode away
My love is like a storybook story
But it's as real as the feelings I feel
My love is like a storybook story
But it's as real as the feelings I feel
It's as real as the feelings I feel
As you wish ...

Era – Misere Mani

E la menora
I mare via
Dove manore
Misere mani
I will look in the sky
I will search for the sun
Who'll tell us all about
Where we'll be tomorrow
I will read all the books
Of many continents
To tell you all about
The legends of the past
I will wait for the sun
On top of the world
To tell you all about
The beauty of the light
If you look inside your soul
The world will open to your eyes
You'll see
E la menora e mano via
Misere mani dove manore
E mano via misere malevo
Dove manore e mano via
Misera amare
I will stand in the rain
Hope of song will come true
And I'll see the colors
Of a misty rainbow
I'll stay out in the night
Looking on shooting stars
To tell you how many
Is the all universe
If you look inside your soul
The world will open to your eyes
You'll see
E la menora e mano via
Misere mani dove manore
E mano via misere malevo
Dove manore e mano via
Misera amare
E la menora e mano via
You'll see
Dove manore misere mani
I will wait for the sun
On top of the world
To tell you all about
The beauty of the light
I'll stay out in the night
Looking on shooting stars
E mano via misere malevo
Dove manore e mano via
Misera amare
I will look in the sky
I will search for the sun
I will wait for the sun

On top of the world
I will look in the sky
On top of the world
On top of the world ...

Lord of the Dance

I danced in the morning when the world was begun
I danced in the Moon & the Stars & the Sun
I came down from Heaven & I danced on Earth
At Bethlehem I had my birth
Dance then, wherever you may be
I am the Lord of the Dance, said he
And I'll lead you all, wherever you may be
And I'll lead you all in the Dance, said he
I danced for the scribe & the pharisee
But they would not dance & they wouldn't follow me
I danced for fishermen, for James & John
They came with me & the Dance went on
Dance then, wherever you may be
I am the Lord of the Dance, said he
And I'll lead you all, wherever you may be
And I'll lead you all in the Dance, said he
I danced on the Sabbath & I cured the lame
The holy people said it was a shame
They whipped & they stripped & they hung me high
And they left me there on a cross to die
Dance then, wherever you may be
I am the Lord of the Dance, said he
And I'll lead you all, wherever you may be
And I'll lead you all in the Dance, said he
I danced on a Friday when the sky turned black
It's hard to dance with the devil on your back
They buried my body & they thought I'd gone
But I am the Dance & I still go on
Dance then, wherever you may be
I am the Lord of the Dance, said he
And I'll lead you all, wherever you may be
And I'll lead you all in the Dance, said he
They cut me down and I leapt up high
I am the Life that'll never, never die
I'll live in you if you'll live in me
I am the Lord of the Dance, said he
Dance then, wherever you may be
I am the Lord of the Dance, said he
And I'll lead you all, wherever you may be
And I'll lead you all in the Dance, said he

Klea - Tic Toc [Magik Muzik Remix]

Tic, toc, tic,

Tic, toc, tic,

Tic, toc, tic,

Tic, tic, tic.

Keep it movin, baby don't stop

You're making my body rock

Every time the beat drops

Heat is rising, got me so hot

(hot)

Stimulate my body clock

Oooh, my honey ever wonder why

I gave you every bit of lovin' that my body's got

Tic, Toc

Your love is sweeter than a lollipop

Tic Toc, you make my heart start banging

And it won't stop banging

And it won't stop...

Tic Toc, you make my head keep spinning

And it don't stop spinning

And it don't stop...

Tic Toc, you make my heart start banging

And it won't stop banging

And it won't stop...

Tic Toc, you make my head keep spinning

And it don't stop spinning

And it don't stop...

Tic, toc, tic

Tic, toc, tic

Wind up my body till I touch the skies

Let my love come pouring down like raindrops

Oooh, my honey ever wonder why

I gave you every bit of lovin' that my body's got

Tic, Toc

Your love is sweeter than a lollipop

Won't stop banging and it won't stop banging...

Tic Toc, you make my heart start banging

And it won't stop banging

And it won't stop...

Tic Toc, you make my head keep spinning

And it don't stop spinning

And it don't stop...

Tic Toc, you make my heart start banging

And it won't stop banging

And it won't stop...

Tic Toc, you make my head keep spinning

And it don't stop spinning

And it don't stop...

(my love, my heart)

Tic Toc, you make my heart start banging

And it won't stop banging

And it won't stop...

Tic Toc, you make my head keep spinning

And it don't stop spinning

And it don't stop...

Tic Toc, you make my heart start banging

And it won't stop banging

And it won't stop...
Tic Toc, you make my head keep spinning
And it don't stop spinning
And it don't stop spinning
And it don't stop spinning
And it don't stop spinning
And it don't stop....

Flip and Fill - Shooting Star

Where were you to hold my hand
Do the things that we had planned
Yes I need you by my side
When things go crazy
I just need to know you care
Guarantee that you'll be there
When I wake up in the night
Will you be my guiding light
I don't care how far
I'll take you there tonight
Just tell me where you are and everything's gonna be alright
Just tell me where you are where you are where you are
Like a shooting star across the midnight sky
From far from afar just to be with you tonight
Like a shooting star across the midnight sky
From afar from afar just to be with you tonight
Where were you to hold my hand
Do the things that we had planned
Yes I need you by my side
When things go crazy
I just need to know you care
Guarantee that you'll be there
When I wake up in the night
Will you be my guiding light
Like a shooting star
Like a shooting star across the midnight sky
Wherever you are you're gonna see me fly
Like a shooting star across the midnight sky
Wherever you are you're gonna see me fly
Where were you to hold my hand
Do the things that we had planned
Yes I need you by my side
When things go crazy
I just need to know you care
Guarantee that you'll be there
When I wake up in the night
Will you be my guiding light
Where were you to hold my hand
Do the things that we had planned
Yes I need you by my side
When things go crazy
I just need to know you care
Guarantee that you'll be there
When I wake up in the night
Will you be my guiding light
Spoken with you to hold my hand

N-Trance - Forever

You hear my voice call out to you
It takes control, what can you do?
Follow me wherever I go
You don't have to be on your own
So hold me forever
Let's stay together, never let me go
So hold me forever
I'm lost without you, won't you take me home
At night you reach towards the sky
The world you see inside me eyes
And you know you've been here before
Always with me, you're never alone
So hold me forever
Let's stay together, never let me go
So hold me forever
I'm lost without you, won't you take me home
Forever
Forever
Forever
Forever
So hold me forever
Let's stay together, never let me go
So hold me forever
I'm lost without you, won't you take me home
So hold me forever
Let's stay together, never let me go
So hold me forever
I'm lost without you, won't you take me home
